Speaking Topics

Answering the Call of Genius

The voices in our heads often seem to be waging war! Beneath the turmoil, there is a soft, still voice that whispers and tugs at us to do more, be more, and connect more. It often seems silly or impractical to listen to this voice. Discover why answering its calling is the secret to unlocking our greatest potential and true Genius.

Outcome: Being inspired and emboldened to take greater leaps in your life and face fear head on.

The Confidence Paradox

Confidence is a key to taking action and moving ourselves forward in life. However, we often feel “ready” before we’ve gained true mastery, or “unready” despite years of skill development and experience. This can lead to results far below our expectations or capabilities. Learn the 3 Keys to effectively navigating this paradox.

Outcome: A deeper understanding of self and how to move forward with greater clarity and confidence.

The Art of Being Selfish

We’re taught all our lives that selfishness is bad and that to give of one’s self is noble. Learn the new definition of selfish and why it’s actually one of the most important things to living your best life.

Outcome: Having greater connection to self and the courage to follow the things that matter most to you in life.
